Ground Broken For New Federal Building In Santa Ana

FIRST SPADE IS TURNED BY PURINTON

Postmaster, Contractor and President of Chamber of Commerce Attend WORK IS LAUNCHED

Promise Made That Local Labor Would Be Used As Far As Possible

FRANK L. PURINTON, mayor of Santa Ana, officially started construction work on the new post office building this morning at 9:27 o'clock when he turned the first shovel of dirt in a ground breaking ceremony that took place at the site of the new building at Sixth and Bush streets.

Upon completion of the ceremonies in which leading citizens of the city took part, an excavating machine immediately began operations and the first step in the realization of a dream of postal authorities here for years began to take form.

W. C. Jerome, president of the chamber of commerce, introduced Mayor Purinton who made a speech before he broke the ground, saying that Santa Ana had passed beyond the town class and was now truly in the large city class. As a proof of this remark he said that if construction work had been begun on a new post office building 20 years ago the whole town would have turned out to see the ground breaking ceremonies. As it is, he declared, there have been so many new buildings erected here within the past few years the public begins to take them as a matter of course.

R. J. Chute, the Los Angeles contractor who was awarded the general contract on the erection of the new post office, was introduced and made a talk saying that he intended to co-operate whole-heartedly with contractors, dealers, and laborers in the vicinity. He said that he intended to let at least 75 per cent of the sub-contracts to local contractors, that he would buy all of his materials from local dealers, and that as far as possible he would employ local labor.

Jerome thanked Chute for his remarks and the attitude he took in regard to the local labor and material problem.

Terry E. Stephenson, postmaster, opened the ground breaking ceremonies with a speech in which he spoke of the progress made by the postal department from 1899 up to the present time.

In 1899 a city delivery system was introduced here and postal receipts for that year were $10,000. In 1907, when L. L. Shaw, who served as postmaster from 1907 until 1915, the receipts were $45,000. Charles Overholtz became postmaster in 1915 and served in that capacity until 1923. Postal receipts for 1922 were $101,000. Terry Stephenson, who is now postmaster, came into office in 1923. The huge increase in postal receipts is shown in the sum the post office took in in 1930, a total of $171,000.

Stephenson remarked that in spite of the drops shown in the receipts of post offices all over the country the Santa Ana office has continued to show a gain every year. He concluded his speech saying that the local office has behind it a tradition of good service and that with the new facilities and

INJUNCTION OPEN EARL CARROLL PLAY

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—(UP)—Earl Carroll's musical comedy, "Sketch Book," which police raided last Friday and banned temporarily as "an obscene performance," went into its fourth week at the Grand Opera house today under a court injunction preventing further interruptions.

The injunction preventing police from again closing the show was issued by Judge Justin F. McCarthy, before whom stars and chorus girls were arraigned Saturday.

McCarthy, his wife, and 10 of his friends saw the show Saturday afternoon to decide for themselves whether the police were justified in closing it. Judge McCarthy then withheld his verdict, granting the permit to continue the show unless he later ruled otherwise.

MADRID, Feb. 16.—(INS)—The Bourbon dynasty faced its gravest crisis today since restoration half a century ago as political developments in the wake of Premier Berenguer's resignation indicated strongly that King Alfonso will be forced to concede control of the government to his foes.

A series of conferences with leading politicians melted away the king's early hopes of forming a cabinet of monarchist supporters to succeed the resigned ministry, and faced him with the alternative of placing the government into the hands of those determined to call a constituent cortes (constitutional convention).

Such a step is tantamount to placing his crown on trial, as such a body would not only proceed to draft a constitution to replace that of 1876, but it would in all likelihood include provisions to limit the king's power and it might possibly seek to eliminate him altogether.

Sunday it was predicted that Alfonso would call a liberal concentration cabinet headed by Count

HOOVER URGES LEGGE TO STAY AS BOARD HEAD

Emissaries Sent to Harvester Chief Asking Him to Reconsider

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(UP)—President Hoover has dispatched emissaries to Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, in an effort to persuade him to change his mind about retiring, it was learned here today on competent authority.

The Los Angeles crusader, accompanied by his daughter, Roberta Semple, was greeted by large crowds at the dock. She announced that she would preach a sermon tomorrow night but said she did not intend to investigate night life here by visiting any of the widely known night clubs.

Mrs. McPherson said she will stop at Hongkong in an attempt to locate Matilda hospital, the birthplace of her daughter.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 16.—(UP)—Alma Semple McPherson, traveling around the world to recuperate from a nervous breakdown, arrived here today for a visit to the scenes where she started her career as an evangelist.

Lillian Leitzel, Beloved By All World, Falls From Trapeze

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 16.—(UP)—The thoughts of thousands of circus goers and performers in sawdust rings throughout the world turned to Copenhagen today where Lillian Leitzel, aerial gymnast and acknowledged queen of the circus, lay dead.

The little athlete whose amazing performances and radiant beauty won her recognition in many lands died in her sleep at 2 a.m. Sunday from injuries received when a defective apparatus broke and she fell to the ring in which she had become famous.

Her husband, Alfred Cordona, a Mexican gymnast performing in Berlin, came to his wife's bedside but left late Saturday when her condition appeared improved. She died a few hours later.

Long Beach Youths Hurt In Accident

Auto Overturns Near Serra on Coast Highway Early Sunday

A LONG BEACH high school boy was instantly killed, a newspaper reporter was believed to have been fatally injured and the third passenger of a small roadster received cuts and bruises when the car in which they were riding skidded and overturned on the Coast highway, near Salt Creek, at 3 a.m. yesterday.

The dead youth was Everett Morrison, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Morrison of 1720 Lemon street, Long Beach, who suffered a broken neck when the car turned over on him. He was the driver of the machine.

Ed Swanson, 21, employee of the Press-Telegram, of Long Beach, is in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, suffering from internal injuries and a broken pelvic bone which are expected to prove fatal. Hospital attendants said today his condition was critical.

The third passenger was Ross Stewart, 20, a college student of 422 La Salle street, Culver City, who escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

The three youths were returning to Long Beach from a fraternity dance at San Juan Capistrano, it was reported. In rounding a turn in the road, the car skidded and overturned in a ditch. According to a report filed at the sheriff's office by deputies who were called out at the time of the accident, too much speed was being made by the small car to allow it to negotiate the curve.

The body of Morrison was taken to the Divet funeral parlors on San Clemente where Coroner Charles D. Brown has called an inquest for 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Swanson and Stewart were taken to San Juan Capistrano after the accident where they were given medical aid by Dr. Paul Essinger, and later were removed to the Santa Ana Valley hospital. Stewart will be able to leave the hospital today, it was said.

Young Morrison was particularly

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Feb. 16.—(UP)—Louis Wolheim, screen actor and director, was to undergo a serious abdominal operation today at the osteopathic hospital.

Wolheim's physicians were uncertain as to his ailments last night, but localized the trouble in the region of the appendix.

During the tour, Rogers spoke at as many as five meetings a day. Hollywood furnished the transportation and helped with the shows. All proceeds went for drought relief.

CALIFORNIANS PAY VISIT TO HOOVER TODAY

Seek Federal Aid to Carry Out State's Plan for Water Control

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(UP)—Federal aid to carry out California's plan of water control was urged upon President Hoover at the White House today by the California water commission.

Commissioners, headed by Colonel Walter E. Garrison, visited the president. Garrison said his state needed federal underwriting of bonds in order to carry out the $160,000,000 project.

Garrison said the commission would call upon other agencies in Washington involved in water control problems and seek to have Congress pass an act before adjournment authorizing an investigation of the California project by the house and senate irrigation and reclamation committees.

The Hoover-Young commission already has investigated the plan. No further investigation now is necessary except by Congress, Garrison added.

Mr. Hoover took the matter under advisement.

"We know the government is interested in the California situation as to flood control and navigation," Garrison said. "We want a government loan. It will not cost the government a cent. If we can get the money one per cent cheaper from the government it will save us $1,600,000 a year."

"If nothing is done at this session we must wait for two years."

"California has plenty of water but must prevent its waste and deliver it to regions now suffering from water shortage."

Methodist Temperance Body Takes Stand Against Juices

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(UP)—

A definite stand for amendment of the Volstead act to outlaw sale of grape concentrates fermentable into wine was taken today by the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals in a renewal of its attack upon the activities of Fruit Industries.

The promotion of "wine grape juice" products by Fruit Industries, an organization of California grape growers aided by loans from the federal farm board, was assailed as an "invasion of prohibition" in the Methodist group's weekly clip sheet.

The article published by Dr. Clarence True Wilson and Deets Pickett, classified the promotion as "the home wine inquiry" and charged it was "an effort to flood American homes with intoxicating wine which will inevitably result in want and cruelty to little children."

The board agreed with the Wickham commission and Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, one of the most active of Senate anti-prohibitionists, that the fruit juice industry encouraged home wine for future consideration, postponing 16 and ordering three deportees.

Two alleged shoplifters sentenced from Los Angeles for burglary and grand larceny, Adeline Thomas and Grace Walker, had sentences of six years each fixed by the board.

ROGERS, HAWKS REST AFTER RELIEF WORK

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Feb. 16.—Will Rogers, the actor, and Frank Hawks, the aviator, rested today after completing a three weeks tour of the southwest, during which Rogers earned $220,000 for Red Cross relief work through benefit performances.

Hawks, who acted as Rogers' pilot throughout the tour, flew here yesterday from Albuquerque, N. M., in six and one-half hours. He was greeted by his parents: Rogers by his wife and children. They plan to rest here for two weeks.

During the tour, Rogers spoke at as many as five meetings a day. Hawks furnished the transportation and helped with the shows. All proceeds went for drought relief.

Thomas Starr King

In Saturday evening's Register there appeared an editorial on the life and work of Father Junipero Serra, whose statue is one of the two to be placed in the National Statuary Hall at Washington on March 31st of this year. The other man from California to be honored in this way is Thomas Starr King, whose record is presented today.

The reason that King was selected was because he was such an heroic figure, not only in saving California to the Union during that strenuous period of the outbreak of the Civil War, but also for the humanitarian and philanthropic work which he did in raising one-fourth of the total money that was raised in this country for the "Sanitary Commission," and thereby aiding the soldiers of the Union. It does not sound so much today, but in the light of the conditions which he met, the heroism and ability, patriotism, and devotion of King stand out in bold relief.

He passed through the Golden Gate into San Francisco Bay April 28, 1860, just past his 35th birthday. He passed out through the Golden Gate into the Glory land on March 4, 1864. The San Francisco Bulletin spoke of him on the very day of his death in the following language:

"The announcement of the death of Rev. Thomas Starr King startles the community, and shocks it like the loss of a great battle or tidings of a sudden and undreamed of public calamity. Certainly no other man on the Pacific Coast would be missed so much. San Francisco has lost one of her chief attractions; the State, its noblest orator; the country one of her ablest defenders."

Thomas Starr King had not yet reached the age of 40 when the summons came. He had passed not quite four years in the state of California at the time of his death, and yet this state honors his memory by giving his statue one of the places in the Hall of Fame.

making and that to permit this constituted hypocritical discrimination between wine and beer.

"It is held that this traffic is legal under section 29 of the Volstead act," the article pointed out. "If this be true, section 29 certainly should be amended."

The board suggested a law might be enacted requiring that fruit juices for home consumption be preserved "in such a way as to prevent fermentation."

The article took cognizance of the fact Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition cases, has been acting as counsel for grape growers. The role played by Mrs. Willebrandt, erstwhile dry crusader, has led to frequent reports of cleavage within the ranks of the leading prohibition organizations.

"These grape growers have been loaned approximately $20,000,000 by the farm board," the article stated, "and Mrs. Willebrandt, their attorney, has been very active in advocating that the government maintain a benevolent attitude toward the trade in view of the fact the United States practically holds a mortgage upon it."

"We have addressed a letter to Senator Tydings saying that if the wets are ready to challenge this inconsistency, certainly we hope they will be supported by the drys."

GASOLINE THEFTS CAUSE OF ARRESTS

Two youths, G. E. Stockton, 20, of Huntington Beach, and W. D. Long, 28, of Colton, were arrested Saturday night by Special Officer F. W. Mutz, who is asserted to have found the youths in the act of stealing gasoline from a county tractor.

Mutz brought the men to jail and returned with Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Art Eels to show him where the theft had occurred. When the officers arrived they found another "customer" stealing gasoline, they reported. He was Jesus Juarez, 26, of Talbert.

Juarez also was brought in and booked at the jail on a charge of petty theft.

New York Pastor Asks Church Trial On Morals Charge

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(UP)—Judge Ben Lindsey's campaign for compassionate marriage in New York has resulted in a demand by the Rev. Eliot White of Grace Protestant Episcopal church that he himself be tried on charges of immoral character and conduct unbecoming a clergyman.

The demand came in a letter the Rev. Mr. White addressed to Bishop William T. Manning, his church superior, whose attack on Judge Lindsey was climaxized by a personal appearance of the judge in the bishop's cathedral of St. John the Divine, and the judge's personal exit a few moments later propelled by shoving shouting churchmen.

The Lindsey beliefs as they pertained to compassionate marriage were his own, White argued. He asked for an ecclesiastical trial in which the charges would be aired.

Calvin Coolidge Says . . .

By CALVIN COOLIDGE
NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Feb. 16.—A movement appears to be starting to authorize agreements and practices now prohibited as restraints of trade. It is proposed to safeguard the public by having such measures approved by some national board. One of the main arguments favoring this policy is conservation of natural resources. It is also an attempt to stabilize trade.

Under this method production could be limited, sales territory divided among different concerns and prices determined. The real object is to regulate competition.

It may be that something of this nature would be an improvement over present conditions. All the burden is on its proponents to show this, for in general experience commerce has been most healthy under free and reasonable competition. If producers combine, consumers will combine. The danger that opportunity will be greatly restricted and indirectly, if not directly, the government board will have to fix prices. Possibly we are moving in that direction. It is done in the case of public utilities. But because everybody is wiser than somebody markets are no respecters of government prices. It will be a wise board that can substitute its judgment for competition. We can only curb selfishness. No law can eliminate it.

arm from a rope at the top of the circus tent, she twisted her entire body in successive revolutions on a swinging ring between 100 and 200 times. Her record was 249 revolutions.

The trapeze artist starred for many seasons with the Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey circus and was very popular in vaudeville. Her performance held a special appeal for children and she was always willing to amuse youngsters by special appearances.

The "queen of the circus" lived like a royal figure. She traveled in her private car and carried a retinue of servants and attendants. Her special kitchen was part of the circus train. And at the high point of the program under the big top, when Lillian Leitzel came into the ring, everything else stopped and every spotlight was directed upon her tiny figure swaying high above the audience.

Miss Leitzel was noted among circus people for her generosity and democracy. A star in her own right she was never temperamental and was one of the best loved performers among the thousands of men and women of the circus and theatrical worlds with whom she came in contact during a career of 20 years.

Young San Diego Girl Being Held By Fiend, Belief

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 16.—(UP)—Spurred by the conviction of police that Little Virginia Brooks fell into the hands of a degenerate when she disappeared last Wednesday on her way to school, an aroused citizenry today continued on a wide front the search for the 10-year-old child.

Total absence of clues to Virginia's mysterious disappearance convinced police that the girl has been snatched up by some degenerate. Had she simply wandered into the hills and become lost, some trace of the girl would have been found by the 1000 persons who joined in the search yesterday, police believed.

Walter E. Sorenson, president of the Orange County Builders Exchange gave a short talk telling of the influence the Building Exchange had in the erection of the building through dealing with the national secretary. He also spoke of the many beautiful buildings that have been built here during the past few years. He extended his greeting to Chouteau, who has become a member of the Orange County Builders Exchange, and said that he hoped his experiences in Santa Ana would all be pleasant.

L. Shaw, former postmaster here, gave a brief outline of the history of the post office department in Santa Ana. He told of how the post office had been moved from its original site on Third between Sycamore and Broadway to its present site at Sycamore and Third streets. There was much difficulty in getting the office moved because of the lease that was held by the government on the Third street building. W. H. Spurgeon, founder of the city of Santa Ana, had given the government a five year lease on the building at a rental fee of one dollar a year.

Shaw continued his speech saying that ever since he could remember postal authorities here have been dreaming about a post office building like the one that is to be built, and that a need for a building of this character has existed for many years.

Barnett was arrested by Officers Swain and Murillo at North Main street and Edgewood road early this morning and lodged in jail on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

President Hoover, according to reliable sources, also feels that Legge has been doing a good job which is only half finished. He would like the chairman to remain until his task is further along the road to a definite setup, it was said.

The action of the president, seeking to retain one of his big business friends in comparatively low paid government service, became known following publication of additional reports that Legge wants to return to private life after March 4.

Legge as chairman of the International Harvester company is believed to have drawn a salary of about $100,000 a year. In the government service he received but $12,000. While his personal fortune might permit him to remain indefinitely at the smaller salary, his friends say his understanding with Mr. Hoover was that his chairmanship of the farm board was to be only temporary. He was to get the machinery well organized and then turn the operation of it over to someone else. He believes his plan is in full operation and is ready to relinquish it to other hands.

However, when Senor Cambio, Spain's powerful industrialist and influential politician, advised the king to form a cabinet based on the constitutional reform group.

Reluctant as King Alfonso may feel toward following this advice, he will probably act upon it before the day is over in order to avoid complete chaos and the spread of mob violence already cropping out in Madrid and Seville.

Close observers predicted that he would shortly summon to the palace Melquides Alvarez, chief of the constitutional reform group and insistent proponent of a "vacation for Alfonso" while a constitutional assembly frames a new constitution for Spain. As premier, Senor Alvarez would probably follow his political creed and summon an assembly prepared to draw up a constitution that will more or less strip the king of all real governing power.

Legge as chairman of the International Harvester company is believed to have drawn a salary of about $100,000 a year. In the government service he received but $12,000. While his personal fortune might permit him to remain indefinitely at the smaller salary, his friends say his understanding with Mr. Hoover was that his chairmanship of the farm board was to be only temporary. He was to get the machinery well organized and then turn the operation of it over to someone else. He believes his plan is in full operation and is ready to relinquish it to other hands.

CASE AGAINST GRAND JURY IS ARGUED TODAY

Woman's Promise To Shoot Thief Averts Burglary

Thieves who attempted to break into the home of A. G. Diehl, of 805 East Chestnut street, at 9:30 o'clock last night hurriedly gave up the idea of entering when Mrs. Diehl "promised" the intruder she would shoot through the window.

Officers Wolford and Richardson made a search of the premises but no one was found.

Mrs. Diehl reported the intruder went first to the back door and then to the front door and finding both locked, attempted to enter a window. She yelled at him and he asked, "What are you all alone?" It was then Mrs. Diehl said she would shoot through the window.

Freeland, who is suing for over $47,000 which he alleges is due and unpaid from San Diego county for engineering services in connection with improvement proceedings which were later dropped, contends that comment by the grand jury of the southern county in connection with the matter, was prejudicial to his action which was pending in the Orange county superior court at the time and that this constituted contempt of court.

Judge Ames previously had ruled that there was prima facie showing of contempt and argument today proceeded on an order to show cause, which was originally issued by Judge G. K. Scovell.

District Attorney Tom Whalen and his aide, Frank Dunn of San Diego county, who acted as attorneys for the defendants in the matter, have withdrawn from the case, and Attorneys Crouch and Sorenson are now representing members of the grand jury.

"The aim of the courts is to help these delinquent boys and girls," said Sutton. "Six out of 10 boys who come before us and eight out of 10 girls come from homes broken by divorce, and when a state legally separates a father and mother, it should be prepared to guide the children until they have reached the age of discretion."

The greatest cause of juvenile delinquency is feeble-mindedness, and this state leads all others in caring for this problem, which is an expensive one. It costs from $25 to $30 a month to care for a normal child and from three to four times this amount to care for a feeble-minded one."

Music for the evening was provided by the church orchestra, the choir and the junior choir, the latter appearing for the first time. While E. M. Biddle gave a vocal solo and Floyd Zimmerman played a violin solo.

HUMOR TO BE FEATURED IN NEWEST PLAY

"It is to laugh," might well be adopted as the Santa Ana Community Players' slogan for the play, "The Angel in the House," which is now under rehearsal by a well-chosen cast directed by George Dunham of Laguna Beach. According to those who have been privileged to attend the rehearsals, now in almost nightly progress at The Barn, the play is one long sustained ripple of enjoyment from beginning to end.

Dunham himself is most enthuzastic about the play, and as for the cast, his impressions have been summed up in one enthusiastic statement, "It's a grand cast." Several of the members have appeared in previous Community Play products, but four out of the eight characters will be absolutely new to local play-goers, and as one seasoned player expressed it, "It will be refreshing to see new work and new faces."

Charles Haas, Robert Horn, Tevis Westgate, Wally Grigg and Tom Halliwell are the masculine members of the group, while Sallie Coe, of Orange, Margaret Lyon Britton and Irma Huffman may fill feminine roles, and of these, Mrs. May, Charles Haas, Robert Horn and Tom Halliwell are the only ones ever appearing in previous plays of the local association.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, February 26, 27 and 28 will be production dates, and like its predecessors of the season, "She Stoops to Conquer" (Gladys Simpson Shafer, director) and "What Every Woman Knows" (Harriet Owens Enderle, director) "The Angel in the House" will be presented in Ebell auditorium.

Faithful work on the part of the cast and director is being paralleled by Mrs. Marshall Harnois, technical director, and her assistants, for the play is said to be one of the most exacting in point of setting the auto.

LUCKY SWANK

CRAWFORDSBURG, Ind.—Probably only one person in ten million ever comes close to being hit by a meteor. Lawrence Swank, 17, of this city, is that one person. While riding in his automobile recently, something hit it a terrific blow in front. Swank got out and looked and found that a meteor had gone through the hood and radiator in.

A small Greek temple on the shores of a lake in the grounds of this home is necessary for the presentation of the third act, so that it readily may be seen that Max Holmes, of the scenery committee, Hazel Nell Benus, of the furniture committee; Victor Morrison, stage carpenter; Norman Cross, electrician, and Mrs. Harnois, technical director, have a task equaling that of anyone in the organization.

Final details for the third annual Military ball of Jack Fisher chapter, D. A. V. will be discussed tonight at the meeting of the citizens' committee to be held with Mrs. A. G. Flagg, 1320 North Broadway, the last of such meetings before the night of the ball, Saturday, February 21, in Orange Legion clubhouse.

Santa Ana members of this committee, working with representatives from each section of Orange county, include Mrs. Flagg, Mrs. F. E. Coulter, Mrs. H. H. Reeves, Mrs. Robert G. Tuthill, Mrs. Jack Fisher, Mrs. Harry S. Pickard, W. B. Williams, Judge F. C. Drumm, J. F. Burke, Harry D. Riley, Terry E. Stephenson and J. Riley Huber.

According to opinions freely expressed by members of the committee this year's ball will excel in point of interest, attendance and brilliancy, any previous function, as ticket sales have exceeded those of previous years. The Legion clubhouse in Orange offers a larger floor space for dancing than has heretofore been available when the ball was held in St. Ann's Inn.

One of the most active of the sub-committees has been that on music, with J. Riley Huber as chairman. This group has secured the English-Gibson orchestra of the Rendezvous ballroom at Balboa, which has attained a wide following through its programs over the United Broadcasting system, as well as in its dance numbers at the seaside ballroom. Harry B. Tudor, manager of the Rendezvous, has released the orchestra for the night in question, agreeing to stand any additional expense that may come from securing a substitute orchestra for the ballroom.

As the public knows, proceeds from the function are devoted to the needs of disabled American veterans of the World War, and the work of Jack Fisher chapter is carried on in all parts of the county, where disabled veterans are in need of assistance in securing the benefits due them and set aside for them by the government.

Such relief work is of national scope," today explained Harry S. Pickard, publicity chairman of the ball committee. "The D. A. V. maintains an office in Washington, D. C., where matters pertaining to legislation are handled, and from which appearances are made before various committees, and congress, in support of bills presented for the relief and care of all disabled comrades.

The D. A. V. has achieved much prestige in Washington and it is a matter of record that it is the fastest growing veterans' organization in the country. This is especially gratifying to the officers because of the fact that many eligible members are unable to meet nominal dues which are necessary for running such an organization."

Pickard pointed out that the task of caring for the wounded and disabled veterans of the late war had by no means reached its peak, and that California, due to its climatic advantages, is called upon to bear an especially heavy burden, having a percentage of cases of need far in excess of the percentage of men entering service from this state. The sums realized in the two preceding years from the Military ball have been of invaluable aid in meeting the needs of the county's disabled veterans, Pickard declared.

Crowd Pays Visit To Newport Beach During Week End

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 16.—Another large week end crowd visited Newport and Balboa Saturday and Sunday, and real estate men were among those whose offices were busy locating people here, particularly for Easter week, when the fourth annual collegiate carnival will be staged here. Harry H. Williamson has located Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Howard and son, from Peace River, Canada, for the winter on Balboa peninsula, while W. L. Jordan has rented quarters for Easter week to several boys' and girls' clubs from colleges in the Southland.

PLAN BANQUETS FOR CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS

Arrangements for pre-convention banquets were made at the February rally of the Orange County Christian Endeavor Union Sunday afternoon at the Tustin Presbyterian church. Three banquets are to be held in March, one at Tustin with Charles Crumrine in charge, another at Santa Ana with Dorothy Rogers in charge, and the third at Anaheim under the direction of Earl Zahl. The society with the largest percentage of members present at these banquets will receive a C. E. pin for each member.

Mrs. Marguerite Ross, of Yorba Linda, county quiet hour superintendent, was in charge of the meeting. An organ prelude was followed by devotions, led by the Rev. S. F. Shiffner, pastor of the church, and Ada May Visick, state prayer meeting superintendent, gave a talk on the national convention at San Francisco July 10. Orange county's quota at the convention is 65.

The address of the afternoon was given by the Rev. Cyril Carter, of Westminster.

In the report of the executive board meeting held at Orange Saturday it was stated that Miss Eileen Gibbs, of Anaheim, had been appointed as intermediate superintendent and that Miss Edna Bumgartner, of Garden Grove, was appointed chairman of the nominating committee, other members to be appointed by the president, Miss Dorothy Abbot. The executive board also framed a resolution of condolence to be sent Mrs. Burton Neal of Buena Park.

Miss Irene Stanley, of Yorba Linda, gave a quiet hour presentation, duet.

For COLDS

We all catch colds and they can make us miserable; but yours needn't last long if you will do this: Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin just as soon as possible after a cold starts. Stay in the house if you can—keep warm. Repeat with another tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin every three or four hours, if those symptoms of cold persist. Take a good laxative when you retire, and keep bowels open. If throat is sore, dissolve three tablets in a quarter-glassful of water and gargle. This soothes inflammation and reduces infection. There is nothing like Bayer Aspirin for a cold, or sore throat. And it relieves aches and pains almost instantly. The genuine tablets, marked Bayer, are absolutely harmless to the heart.

BAYER ASPIRIN

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoacetylcideester of Salicylicacid.

Two Women Ask Divorces Here

Two divorce suits have been filed in superior court by wives, one on a charge of desertion and failure to provide, and the other on the grounds that her husband has been convicted of a felony in San Diego county.

Katherine Eichler, who was married to A. R. Eichler at Guam, in the Philippines, informed the court in March 1, 1920, that her husband was convicted on a check charge in San Diego county in January, 1920. They separated in November, 1920. She asks custody of their son.

The other action was brought against Jack Diamond by Thelma Diamond. They were married March 10, 1928, and separated May 22, 1928.

MCGROARTY TO TALK AT COAST MEETING

A large attendance is expected at the meeting of the Orange County Coast association in San Juan Capistrano Tuesday, when John Steven McGroarty will be the speaker. It is expected that an invitation will be given the association to hold its March meeting at the Newport harbor union high school. The meeting will be held at Bird's cafe at 6:30 o'clock.

Lutheran Church Conclave Closes

Closing the California district convention of the American Lutheran church was held in the Grace Lutheran church in Anaheim from Tuesday till Friday of last week, the Rev. Doermann, of Long Beach, outgoing president of the organization, administered new officers of the group to be faithful to their trusts at Friday's session.

The Rev. C. H. S. Hunziker of the Anaheim church, is the newly elected president of the organization.

Court Notes

The damage action of G. C. Rogers against the Motor Transit company in which the plaintiff was given judgment of $20,000 in a jury award, which was later reduced to $15,070 by Judge H. C. Ames, has reached its conclusion in superior court. A notice of full satisfaction of the judgment has been filed by Rogers and his attorneys. Appeal of the judgment had been contemplated at one time, but decision was reached to abide by the court ruling.

Judgment of $326.50 is sought in a suit which was filed against Helen V. Finley, J. Ururarte and Nemisio Melgoza by H. E. Arnold. The plaintiff asserts he cashed three checks amounting to the total he is seeking in the suit, which were signed by Mrs. Finley and made to the order of Ururarte and that they have been repudiated.

An amount of $400, which it is asserted is due and unpaid under terms of a lease, is made the basis of a suit which has been filed in superior court by William B. Gemmill against Anton Schulte.

The A. R. Muller Tool company is plaintiff in an action that has been filed in superior court against Maurice O. O'Neill and others, in which judgment is asked for a balance of $6010 plus interest of $1682.80 on an open book account.

Judgment of $475.82 is asked in a suit on an open account which has been filed in superior court by the Ganahl-Grim Lumber company of Anaheim, against R. W. Brown.

Foreclosure of a mortgage and judgment of $60,000 on a promissory note are asked in a suit which has been filed in superior court against the Odd Fellows Building association, of Orange, and others by Helene S. C. King, formerly Helene S. C. Walker. The note was executed Dec. 29, 1925, according to the complaint, for a five-year period, and the complaint claims no part of the principal has been paid. Interest has been paid to July 1, 1930. The court is asked to appoint a receiver for the property on the grounds that its probable value is $50,000 while the mortgage indebtedness exceeds the sum of $65,000, and that a receiver is necessary to collect rents and profits from the premises. Attorney fees in the amount of $6000 also are asked in the complaint.

Complaint for judgment of $1200 as the balance due on a promissory note, interest and attorney's fees, has been filed in superior court by the defendant, Darius Morehead, who had been fined $170 and sentenced to 60 days in jail after conviction in the justice court on a charge of failure to pay wages. The action had been brought by the state on a complaint of Kenneth O. Renaud, who appealed from a judgment of Justice A. C. Earley, of Brea township, was filed Saturday in superior court by the defendant, Darius Morehead, who had been fined $170 and sentenced to 60 days in jail after conviction in the justice court on a charge of failure to pay wages. The action had been brought by the state on a complaint of Kenneth O. Renaud, who

Kiwanis Governor Gives Address At Anaheim Meeting

ANAHEIM, Feb. 16.—Don Rice, governor of the California-Nevada district of Kiwanis clubs, was the guest of the Anaheim club at a district meeting held in the Elks club Friday night.

There were 188 members of Kiwanis clubs from the fourth district present, including Santa Ana, Fullerton, Whittier, La Habra, San Clemente and Anaheim.

Rice was the speaker of the evening and was introduced by Joseph E. Collings of Anaheim, who is the lieutenant-governor of the district. Rice spoke on the activities of the Kiwanis clubs during the past year and gave a brief history of the organization.

TUSTIN SENIOR CLASS TO GIVE PLAY MARCH 6

TUSTIN, Feb. 16.—Elaborate plans are being made for the Tustin senior play, which will be presented March 6 in the high school auditorium. The cast is rehearsing daily under the direction of the dramatics teacher, Miss May Rose Burton.

The leading part is taken by Glen Eustis, who is the radio announcer at the school. He has also been prominent in the tennis and basketball teams and the Spanish club.

Among those who are said to be taking these rumors with several grains of salt are residents of the West Newport district who voiced opposition to the oil refinery some months ago. They claim its odors constitute a nuisance, and so complained to the city council. City Attorney Roland Thompson, however, gave

The Nuoll company has installed a No. 5 rotary rig at a cost of $10,000 and has obtained enough pipe to go down 3000 feet. The company is reported to have some 2000 acres under lease. Thomas Banning of the Banning interests was here during the week with Los Angeles and Venice oil men.

MISSION WORK SERMON TOPIC IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON, Feb. 16.—"Universal Missionary Motives" was the subject of the sermon by the Rev. Francis E. Hawes at the First Baptist church of Fullerton yesterday morning. The Rev. Hawes said in part:

"We mention some reasons why every Christian should be interested in giving the gospel to everyone who has not heard it. 1. A Universal Condition—All are lost." Isa. 53:6. "All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned everyone to his own way." This Old Testament prophecy puts us all in the same class. Read again in Rom. 3:9—"Both Jews and Gentiles—are all under sin." Again in Rom. 3:23 we learn that "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God."

"2. A Universal Requirement—'All need a spiritual birth.' Jno. 3:2. Jesus answered, 'Verily, verily, I say unto thee. Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.' Regeneration is the one and only process of salvation revealed in the New Testament. All must be born again.

"3. A Universal Provision—'All may be saved.' Isa. 53:6. 'The Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all.' Jno. 3:16—"For God so loved the world that he gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Rom. 10:13—"For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved."

"4. A Universal Responsibility—The duty belongs to all who are saved." The commission to "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature" was a message to that group which formed the nucleus of the church which is His body. Therefore it carries with it individual responsibility. Cp. 1 Cor. 12:12-27. Every member of the physical body has a place in the proper functioning of the body. Thus it is with the church, which is the body of Christ. Every member has a place and a part in the proper working of the church in carrying out the will of the risen Lord.

"5. A Universal Plan—Our denominational Program." This certainly is not perfect. But it offers the best possible channel through which Baptists can send their missionary money to the ends of the earth.

"6. A Universal Urge—"a. The command of Christ—Mt. 28:19-20.

"b. The compassion of Christ—Mt. 9:36-38. The church is the principal channel through which the compassion of Christ reaches a needy world today.

"c. The coming of Christ—Mt. 24:14—"And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come." Cp. Mt. 24:3.

"d. The fact that all believers must one day face in judgment. Him who said "Go into all the world and preach the gospel." Cp. Rom. 10:18. 1 Cor. 5:10."

FIGHTERS IN COURT

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 16.—Tom Lively, 41, was sent to the county jail for 30 days and L. S. Blacketer was fined $10 by Justice C. C. "Gavvy" Cravath when the man were brought before him charged with fighting. It was when Blacketer admitted having taken off his coat that Cravath decided he was not entirely innocent in the matter.

An opinion that action would have to be started by those in the vicinity of the refinery, as it would not be such a nuisance as to make it the city's duty to bring suit.

Washington's flashy ball carrier, takes a key around these days after school hours.. he is part-time jailer in the King county prison at Seattle.. he hasn't had to spill any of the interference on an end run as yet, but you might call him the key man of the defense for all that... Primo Carnera broke a record at the Hippodrome in New York during a recent week by playing to $30,000... you can't deny that Primo has had enough hip-podroming practice to go over in a big way... up to Primo's showing, the Hipp record was held by Peaches Browning at $31,000... Before the recent mile battle between Ray Conger and Leo Laramond, Leo broadcast that Ray would have to do better than 4:13 to beat him. Ray could do no better than 4:13 3-5, but he beat Leo just the same.

CHANCE FOR CHEATERS

Umpires in the major leagues this year will receive instructions to keep balls in play unless they are marred seriously. With the new raised seam, heavier thread ball to be used, this may give the cheaters a break.

The habit of doctoring balls was curbed heretofore partly by the indiscriminate removal from the game of baseballs that showed even the slightest imperfections. Then, too, it has been hard for pitchers to cheat with the ball that had seams countersunk, because many trick deliveries of an earlier day were based upon raising of the seam at some points, and this was hard to do with the threads countersunk.

FORD FATHER OF FAKERS

The great granddaddy of all the cheaters was Russell Ford of the Yankees, in the days before the World War.

Ford used a glove with a hole cut in the center. He wore a ring to which was attached a bit of emery paper, which he used to roughen a spot on the ball. Fastened to the ring was a string of rubber bands which extended up the sleeve of his sweatshirt. When an umpire would demand inspection of his gloved hand, Ford would remove the ring as he took off his glove, and the rubber bands would snap the evidence right up his sleeve. Ford literally had "something up his sleeve," in every game he worked.

The roughened spot on the ball gave it an unnatural break. If the ball was delivered overhand with the roughened spot to the left, it would break sharply to the right. If the spot was held on top, the ball would break down. Ford achieved a "rise ball" by holding the spot on the bottom as he gripped it to deliver. If the spot was held to the right, the ball would sail sharply to the left as it neared the batter.

ED PASSES IT ON

Ford was wary of his secret and used it moderately. He was content to get by with it without any spectacular demonstration. Ed Sweeney, the catcher, was the only other man who knew what it was all about.

After Ford passed from the big leagues with a lame arm, Sweeney confided the secret to Ray Keating. Keating, however, became too bold with the delivery. He didn't care who he fooled with the crazy breaks and used it with abandon.

It was when Keating struck out Eddie Collins three times in succession that led to the outlawing of such tricks. After Eddie had whiffed twice he walked up to the plate for the third time, leaned on his bat as though it were a cane, and watched three of the silly twisters sail across the heart of the plate.

CAUGHT RED HANDED

Keating hadn't bothered to take the precaution. Ford had used, and after he had pitched the second strike across on the laconical Collins, the umpire rushed out to inspect his glove. Keating couldn't get rid of the emery in his glove in time to avoid discovery.

Dave Ranforth, another of the tricksters, had a thumb nail like a saw with which he raised the seam of the ball. Sometimes pitchers used safety razor blades to lift the seam, but Dave's thumb was like a knife and he had tremendous strength in his hands.

BOWLING

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 16.—A record official entry list of 2639 five-man teams for the American Bowling Congress, which will open here February 27, was announced today by A. L. Langtry, secretary.

In addition to the entry list includes 3650 two-man teams and 7302 singles.

The entire profits from the congress will be devoted to relief of unemployment in Buffalo. The congress will continue through April 7.

Savoldi Makes Wrestling Debut Tonight

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 16.—"Jumping Joe" Savoldi, former Notre Dame football star, will make his professional wrestling debut here tonight.

The Italian fullback, who has been training in California, will grapple Don De Long, French wrestler. Savoldi gave his weight as 205 pounds.

Bull Montana, motion picture "bad man," will wrestle Jack Woods, Kansas City, in a special event.

BEARS, TROJANS MAY END HOOP CHASE IN TIE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—(UPI)—A playoff between the University of California and University of Southern California for the right to meet Washington for the Pacific coast basketball title appeared imminent today as Southern division teams entered the last week of conference play.

Leading the parade of Yellowjackets is Paul Burnison. He scored seven points in the all-conference meet last year when he tied his teammate, Roy Delby, for first place in a ten-flat 100-yard dash and when he came back a few minutes later for a close second right on the heels of Delby in the 220.

Now that Delby has transferred to Southern California, Burnison becomes the prime favorite to cop both dashes consistently this season. Only "Babe" Morales, Redondo Beach's Bay league champion, now representing Compton, stands in the road of the Fullerton speed merchant.

The automatic elimination of the Philadelphia veteran simply meant that the other ranking stars moved into one place in the ranking.

Frank Shields, the New York boy who jumped all the way from twelfth to second position, was the most improved player of the lot.

Wilmer Allison, the tall Texan, advanced from seventh to third position.

Sydney Wood of New York, and Cliff Sutter, Tulane star from New Orleans, are striking examples of the new order of things in the world of tennis. Today they are ranked fourth and fifth, respectively. Previously neither held a national ranking.

CRUICKSHANK'S RANKING UP TO NO. 5 FOR 1930

That Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana's able young tennis expert, will be a member of the next American Wightman cup team appeared probable today.

Ranked as the nation's fifth best singles player for the past year, Miss Cruickshank thereby became entitled to serious consideration for a position on the squad which annually opposes the best of Great Britain's court representatives.

This summer, however, Wightman cup matches will be held at Forest Hills, N. Y., so the Santa Ana girl, if selected, will not go to the trip to Europe that frequently falls the lot of America's ranking stars.

Santa Ana tennis followers greeted with delight the announcement of Miss Cruickshank's improved ranking. She jumped from No. 10 to No. 5 in one season's play and as her game is constantly improving it is reasonable to assume her progress is even now not completed.

YOUTH TRIUMPHANT IN AMERICAN TENNIS

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Youth today stands triumphant in the pinnacles of American tennis.

The 1930 ratings in the men's singles, released by the U. S. Lawn Tennis association at its annual meeting Saturday, officially ushered in the new era that began last year when a new group of stars displaced the old standbys of the past decade.

The changes in the list of the tennis leaders are the most revolutionary in the history of the game. Five young players replace as many veterans who, either because of turning professional or because of inability to withstand the challenge of youth, have been forced out of the amateur limelight.

Johnny Doeg, the new "head man" of the sport, won the premier position on his own merits and not because of the ineffectiveness of Bill Tilden, who succumbed to the lure of professionalism recently after heading the amateur ranking since 1929.

Now that Delby has transferred to Southern California, Burnison becomes the prime favorite to cop both dashes consistently this season. Only "Babe" Morales, Redondo Beach's Bay league champion, now representing Compton, stands in the road of the Fullerton speed merchant.

Keeping Burnison company in the other ranking stars moved into one place in the ranking.

Frank Shields, the New York boy who jumped all the way from twelfth to second position, was the most improved player of the lot.

Wilmer Allison, the tall Texan, advanced from seventh to third position.

Sydney Wood of New York, and Cliff Sutter, Tulane star from New Orleans, are striking examples of the new order of things in the world of tennis. Today they are ranked fourth and fifth, respectively. Previously neither held a national ranking.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

SALOON EVILS ARE OUTLINED IN VILLA PARK

VILLA PARK, Feb. 16.—P. A. North, field representative of the California Anti-Saloon league, spoke at the Villa Park Congregational church yesterday morning. He said in part:

"I am sure I am glad to be with you this morning. During the war we learned it was easier to go over the top and drive out the enemy, and hold their trenches, than it was to hold our own, during their counter-attack. We have been rejoicing over the victories won. Five years ago the wets decided they were strong enough to defeat the drys and repeal the Volstead Act in 1922. It is the plan of the wets to change the liquor content to 21-2 per cent by weight, which would be a little more than 3 per cent by volume. They tell us that to have light wines and beer, would do away with drunkenness and bootlegging."

Drinking Increased

"When I was here two years ago, I had just returned from a trip to the province of Ontario, where I had been sent to investigate. I found that with wine and beer drinking there, drunkenness had increased 30 per cent. Ontario has turned from beer and wine to government control. Now when you realize that you are facing not only the wets of America, but of the world, you begin to see the serious nature of the conflict. The French have wet organizations, and all countries have wet organizations, helping to back up the American wets. You must congratulate yourselves that you are members of a Protestant church and therefore in the front ranks of the battle. But there are many young people who know nothing of the wet conditions in saloon days, and they must be taught the things which we know. One million young people become voters every year, and there are many of them who will say in all honesty, If this new plan will stop drunkenness and bootleggers, let us try it by all means. The wets literally have hundreds of millions of dollars.

Drunks In Chicago

"In saloon days I lived in Chicago. It was my privilege to be at the police station, one day, where 200 drunks were taken every day. I saw sad sights, though I was told that they occurred every day. I saw a large man stooped, brought before the judge. This was in one of the slum wards, and there was a poor little boy of the slums, with a ragged cap in his hand, and he said, Please, mister, sometimes on Sundays he can't get any liquor, and then he is good to us." And his wife said, "Oh, when he isn't drunk, he is such a good man." The judge said to the man, "You have been at Bridewell?" and the man said, "Send me back there again, I can't trust myself where there are saloons." And he bids his wife and little boy good-bye, and as he is led away, an officer on the other side of the room says, "Do you want help from the charity fund?" And that mother says, "As long as I can raise my children without charity, I intend to do it." And the little boy said, "Why don't they let daddy come home with us?" Some say we should not take the saloon away from a man, for that is interfering with his personal liberty. I have no doubt that the greatest trophy ever laid at the Master's feet was the 18th amendment, and it stays there because the Protestant church keeps it there. If we keep an ambulance at the bottom of the cliff, why not also build a fence around the top?"

Arrests Show Drop

"On my way home from Ontario I stopped off in Chicago. I went back to that same police station to see my old friend Captain C—, and I asked him, "How many arrests for drunkenness are there now?" I felt sure if there was any improvement there, it must be improved all over the United States. Captain C— told me that orders had reached him, that if he gave out any information whatever in regard to drunk arrests, without the permission of his superior officer, he would be discharged. We were in his private office, and he opened a ledger at a certain page, and they did not want to call it by the name of any of the towns there, so they got a map of California, and found the name of Pomona, and they thought that sounded better than anything else they had heard, so that was how the town was named. And in Pomona was where I preached my first sermon, and I remember the text—"Be Not Deceived."

GOD WITH US, SAYS PASTOR IN EL MODENA

EL MODENA, Feb. 16.—The Rev. Joseph Reece of the Friends church spoke yesterday morning from the topic "The Irresistible Majority." He said in part:

"For our lesson I have two passages of scripture, Ephesians 6:10-14, and II Kings 6:8-17; in the first passage, Paul is speaking to them on putting on the whole armor of God; for we wrestle not against flesh and blood—but against spiritual wickedness in high places; and having done all to stand. The sixteenth verse of the sixth chapter of II Kings, is the one I especially wanted to draw to our attention. Fear not; for they that be with us are more than they that be with them."

Many Discouraged

"There are many Christians who are discouraged and I have talked with some outside of the church, who say they would not want to belong to the church, because they are just as good as those in the church. Some are ashamed of the church and of the people who are in it. I have heard people make fun of the people in the church. They would say, oh, well they do not know much. I went with my father to a little town named Pomona. When they named the town, they did not want to call it by the name of any of the towns there, so they got a map of California, and found the name of Pomona, and they thought that sounded better than anything else they had heard, so that was how the town was named. And in Pomona was where I preached my first sermon, and I remember the text—"Be Not Deceived."

Faithful Workers

"And the little church was composed of faithful members; they tithe, and brought all their tithes into the Lord's house. And the church grew, and they were wonderfully blessed. But the churches in larger towns made fun of them and sneered at them, so that many times it was hard to keep sweet; and the other churches were not doing near as much as this little church was doing nor giving near the money per capita. But of course there are two sides to every question; there may have been a reason for all this. If people begin to faint, I want us to look up and not become discouraged."

With You Always

"And now, we will consider who is for us. All heaven is for us. And every Christian man and woman is praying for our victory. God says, 'Be not afraid.' With us, is the Lord our God to help us and to fight our battles for us. Be not

PATRONS OF LIBRARY LEAVE VISITORS FORGET THEIR WEARING APPAREL NAIL FILES, BILLS IN BOOKS

ORANGE, Feb. 16.—Bookmarks may be anything from a toothpick to a pair of glasses, says Mrs. Alpha Cane of the city library staff, who assists in removing from returned volumes these marks of the library patrons' forgetfulness.

Forgetting to remember is one of the things which those in charge of the library see a great deal. In the books are found gas bills, intimate personal letters, Christmas and birthday cards, nails, nail files, shears and scraps of paper of all kinds, making it evident that readers nowadays are seldom given bookmarks as gifts as they were a quarter of a century ago.

Children who patronize the library are not so much given to leaving markers in the books they read but are very apt to leave their hats, coats, caps, sweaters, school books and fountain pens and pencils behind them when they visit the library. Adult patrons leave glasses most frequently with fountain pens and packages coming as close seconds, says Mrs. Cane.

Burdig were consoled.

The evening came to a close with a plate lunch of creamed chicken on toast, cherry pie with whipped cream and coffee, served by the committee in charge, Messrs. W. E. Paulus, Walter Otto, James W. E. Paulus, Walter Otto, August Stohmann and William F. Paulus. They were assisted by their husbands.

Other members present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Timme, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lemke, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Timken, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klaner, Mr. and Mrs. O. LIBRARIAN IN SPEECH BEFORE COUNTY GROUP

ORANGE, Feb. 16.—Members of the Orange County Librarians club met here Saturday, the principal feature on the program being a most interesting talk on the "Borgias," given by Mrs. J. M. Cloyes, of Santa Ana, who has compiled extensive data on this subject and who gave the group the results of her studies.

Luncheon was served in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Verne Shippe was in charge of the luncheon and was assisted in serving by the library class of high school girls who are studying methods of library work under Mrs. Margaret Scott. Mrs. Scott was the hostess.

During the afternoon a round table discussion was held. It is proposed to divide the southern counties of the state, which comprises the sixth district libraries, into two districts as the district has grown to such large proportions.

This subject of the proposed division was discussed. Mrs. Edith Hubbard, of Huntington Beach, presided. The next meeting of the club is to take place in Huntington Beach the latter part of March.

Gentlemen:

I am interested in selling public health to the citizens of my community. You are interested in selling cigars to all America. Apparently there is no joining of interests here.

However, when I noticed your interesting advertisements which pointed attention to the evils of spit from a public health standpoint, and what had been done by you to prevent spit tipped cigars, I recognized that there was a union of interests.

You are to be congratulated for fighting the spitting evil as you do, not because it is going to sell more cigars, but rather that it is going to make healthier citizens. I do not care how many more cigars you do sell. I am interested in public health. You can use this letter if you want to for publication.

Addresses Heard Yesterday In Santa Ana Churches

SPECIAL MUSIC PRESENTED TO CLASS OF MEN

An unusual message was brought to those attending the service at the First Methodist church last night when Walter Armacost, Santa Monica florist and church man, made an address on flowers. The florist brought many beautiful flowers with him which he used in illustrating his experiences in growing them and in comparing certain types of flowers and their responses to treatment with types of church members. The Boy Scout harmonica band also participated in the service of this church last evening.

Florist Talks At Methodist Church On Sunday Night

INDIFFERENCE TO RELIGION IS LAMENTED

"Religious Indifference," was the theme of the sermon delivered by the Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, yesterday morning. "Is it nothing to you, all ye that pass by?" Lamentations 1:12, was the scriptural text. Mrs. U. E. Harding, soprano, sang, "Rescue the Perishing," accompanied by Mrs. D. E. Davis at the piano, with cello obligato by Hugh C. Benner.

"Jeremiah," said the Rev. Mr. Harding, "was known as the weeping prophet. Not many ministers of this day would care to have that title. Too many of us prefer a D. D., a Ph. D., or some other high degree rather than the tears of lamentation. Of course, not all of us, either ministers or laymen, can have the same gifts or methods of activity. There are some who seem to be called especially to a ministry of broken-hearted solicitude for others. But while we do not insist that all should constantly weep, surely, in pulpit and in pew we need, throughout the church of Christ, a revival of religious interest, of burden and care for the souls of men—an increase of tender-hearted weeping over the sins and afflictions of the lost."

"Today we find an appalling lack of recognition of responsibility among Christian people. From the day that Cain asked, 'Am I my brother's keeper?' to the present, men have tried to dodge their legitimate responsibility for others. Too many so-called Christians carry their religion like they carry life insurance, and consider it as a safeguard against eternal punishment. That individual whose service for Christ is on such a basis has missed the whole point in Christian experience. He who is proper relation to Jesus Christ can testify from his heart, 'The love of Christ constraineth me' to serve with a loving, devoted, warm-hearted service."

At the evening service Mrs. Anna Campbell, soprano of the Presbyterian Church of Westminster, was the soloist. William Rose, youthful violinist of Westminster, also gave a number. The sermon was delivered by the pastor on the theme, "A Discarded Truth," from the text in John 3:3, "Ye must be born again."

ROBERT FULLER, Bud Baker, Hyatt Graham and Harold Elmer, as the village ramblers, gave a group of song and instrumental numbers. John and Louis Slothover entertained with harmonica solos by John and a vocal number by Louis Jr.

Mrs. F. A. Daley as the village elocutionist, gave an impersonation of a Negro preacher of Civil war days. Mrs. C. G. Attridge as Jenny Lind, favored with vocal number. Mrs. P. M. Thompson was an accompanist.

R. L. Davis as Daniel Webster, introduced Daniel Boone, Charles E. Dunn as the auctioneer, and the many pies were bought by the men.

Mrs. F. Vaughn was program chairman and Mrs. Frank Wells was program announcer. Mrs. William Conwell of the P.T.A. directed the affair. Mrs. C. G. Huston of the Friday Afternoon club was in charge of the clubhouse decorations. The stage depicted a parlor of the 1860 type. Funds derived will be used for welfare work in the community.

During the afternoon radio talk was enjoyed. Those present were Modjeska B. F. Richards, Trufford Watson, Raymond McCarthy, Fred Alden, M. E. White, John Knola, Charles Oldfield and the hostess, Mrs. M. E. White will entertain the club at the meeting March 6.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Plummer were hosts at a delightfully informal affair Saturday evening, entertaining in their home at 322 Normandy place. Bouquets of freesias provided a fragrant setting for the evening hours, which were spent socially.

The hostess served an appetizing refreshment course including fruit salad and a cake prettily decorated in pink and white. All appointments evidenced a Valentine motif.

Those sharing Mr. and Mrs. Plummer's hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Roland Pickhardt and daughter, Ruth, and sons, Roland and Albert; Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Jones and daughter, Janet; Mrs. Muriel Mason and daughters, Ruth Evelyn and June Louise and son, Charles W. all of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCue of Wheeling, West Va.

Las Meninas Leader Presents Pretty Bridge Party

Entertaining in the lovely home of her aunt, Mrs. W. F. Kistinger, 221 South Main street, Miss Catherine Harwood, new president of Las Meninas, was hostess to members of that group and their guests, at the rush party of the second semester, which was one of the outstanding events of last week.

Upon arriving each guest was presented with a fragrant corsage of early spring flowers in colorful tints. Bridge soon was in full sway, with seven tables employed. Tallys were in plain white, bearing Las Meninas crest in gold, and upon checking, it was revealed that Miss Demarie Sears held high score among the guests, for which she was awarded a lovely box of stationery. Miss Frances Bowman was second high, and was presented a filmy dance handkerchief in pastel tints, while Miss Evelyn Greene was consoled with a clever card deck holder, filled with tiny cubes of bath crystals.

Card table covers were replaced with crisp linens, and a delectable refreshment course was served. Dancing and music occupied the rest of the evening.

Guests present included the Misses Frances Bowman, Elsiebel Hurd, Hazel Hushman, Betty James, Priscilla Watson, Florence Cokely, Evelyn Green, Eugenie Gire, Rosalind Schilling, Bernadine Bender, Marjorie Arundell, Demarie Sears, Virginia Warner, Claire Hymer.

Members present included the hostess, Miss Catherine Harwood, assisted by her aunt, Mrs. W. F. Kistinger, the adviser, Miss Genevieve Huston, and the Misses Ruth Fitz, Jean Anderson, Catherine Walbridge, Juliette Taylor, Esther Romoff, Agnes McKinstry, Ruth Gardner, Neva McDonald, Lorna Allen, Marion Taylor, Florence Stanley and Miriam Samuelson.

White Shrine Members Honor National Leader

Attracting an unusually large crowd to the Knights of Pythias hall, Friday night's special White Shrine meeting was an unusually enjoyable and successful affair, planned as a compliment to the visit of the supreme worthy high priestess of the order, Jeanne Haynes Terry of Illinois. Mrs. Terry is visiting different Shrines on a nation-wide tour, and was accompanied Friday night by the supreme noble prophetess, Victoria L. Krause, whose home is in the Southland.

Many local and visiting members congregated in the hall for a reception held at 5 o'clock as a compliment to the distinguished guest. An attractive setting was given the function, by the massed poinsettias which harmonized with the valentine decorative motif. At 6:30 o'clock, dinner was served in the banquet room with Mrs. Ruth Zabel as general chairman. A color scheme of yellow and white, White Shrine colors, was used for this.

The Shrine session at 7:30 o'clock opened with special escort work in which Mrs. Terry and Mrs. Krause were given seats of honor in the east where they were presented with charming bouquets. The escort work continued until all the guests of special importance had been given places of honor. These included the supreme king's guards and queen's attendants, deputy supreme watchmen of the shepherds, worthy high priestesses and watchmen of the shepherds, not only of the present, but also those who have served in those offices, all of whom were formally introduced before being seated.

There have been many of these leaders in the work of the Shrine to accompany Mrs. Terry from city to city, and Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, worthy high priestess of the local organization, is making it a point to join in such a friendly demonstration of welcome, and visit other Shrines when the supreme officer makes her official visit. She will spend almost two weeks longer in Southern California and Mrs. Lewis will attend all meetings that do not coincide with the meeting date of Damasus Shrine.

Since Friday night's affair was a special session, the next meeting of the local orders will be Thursday, February 19, at 8 o'clock. This will be an occasion of much interest with junior past officers in charge, a reception for new members to follow the stated session, and the evening to close with a birthday party complimenting those whose natal days occurred in February or March.

Afternoon of Cards In Nealey Home Scores Success

That charm of hospitality and friendliness which seems to distinguish the Edward M. Nealey home on Glenn avenue, was in the ascendant Saturday afternoon when Modern Poetry section members of Ebells were privileged to make it the setting for a valentine bridge tea, given as an Ebells society benefit.

Bowls of roses, nodding snowdrops and rich-hued fuchsias gave a springtime atmosphere to the home, heightened by the colorful valentine score pads and tally cards. In the arrangement of the 20 tables in play, the devotees of contract found places in the library, auction players who wished to pivot in their own small groups, were accommodated in the dining-room, while the stately big living room was given over to the more numerous auction players who wished to progress.

Of the latter group, Mrs. Oliver scored high, receiving the quaint silhouette picture chosen by the section as first prize, while decks of cards went to those making second and third scores, Miss Schofield and Miss Rosa Boyd. Since the contract and pivoting tables were "partnered within a party," the hostess of each individual group had provided special prizes for winners among her guests.

Mrs. Nealey, Mrs. Edith Thatcher, Mrs. William H. De Wolfe, Mrs. Aldric Worswick and Miss Mabel Whiting comprised the hostess group for the party, and as the afternoon waned, they served heart-shaped sandwiches and cookies with hot tea and coffee, candied grapefruit and orange peels.

The section was congratulated upon the success of the party not only as a social feature, but as a financial success, for it yielded a gratifying sum to be turned into the Ebells treasury.

Immediately following the ceremony four young people continued to San Diego where they were guests at the U. S. Grant hotel, returning to this city last night. Mr. and Mrs. Mallot will be at home to their friends at 928 1/2 South Ross street, and Mr. and Mrs. Beckley will make their home in Tustin.

Mrs. Mallot, who is a graduate of Santa Ana high school, expects to resume her duties as office nurse with Dr. Bessie Martell, and Mrs. Beckley, a graduate of Tustin high school, will continue with the Vitalite corporation for the present. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Algeo Marsh, Tustin. Mr. Mallot, a graduate of Garden Grove high school and Davis Agricultural college, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Mallot of Garden Grove. He is with the American Cyanamid company. Mr. Beckley, the son of H. B. Beckley of San Diego, and a graduate of Capistrano high school, is connected with the J. C. Penney company.

Plans For Birthday Surprise Party

When Mrs. E. G. Gable and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Gable, entertained a group of friends Friday night in their home, 1247 South Parton street, they went about their hospitable plans very quietly indeed, in order that the party might be a happy surprise for Mr. Gable as a celebration of his birthday anniversary.

Early in the evening Miss Dorothy contrived an errand and asked her father to take her on its fulfillment, and in the meantime the guests assembled in the home to greet the return of the host with their birthday good wishes, much to their amazement.

An evening of merry games followed, to reach the height of enjoyment at the refreshment hour when delicious home-made ice-cream was served with a birthday cake decorated with pink roses and lettered "Happy Birthday" in pink icing. The table was quite charming in a pink and green color harmony, with a cluster of dewy roses as a centerpiece, and dainty baskets in two tones of green, filled with valentine candies. Many attractive gifts were presented the host at this time.

Sharing the pleasant anniversary with Mr. Gable and his wife and daughter, were Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. McCollum, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lyons of Orange, Miss Elma Mitchell, Miss Harriett Mitchell and Messrs. George Credit and Clarence Barney.

MIXING BOWL*Onion Short Cake

"If Winter comes,
Can Spring be far behind?"
Not this year, unless all signs fall. This morning from my window I could see and hear robins and larks discussing the relative merits of grass and rags over mud and sticks for their new bungalows. Then a butterfly sailed by, closely followed by a boomerang old bumblebee with his mind tucked into his greedy tummy.

So, I deserted my typewriter and Mixing Bowl and went out to see what I could see. First I inspected a lot of bulbs planted late last fall and found them up with well filled flower sheaths, then off came the blankets from some climbing Hoosier Beauties planted in November, and found them alive and full of new leaf buds. Rhododendron and daphne bushes give promise of much bloom, and so does the grass poking its way up between the bricks of the garden walk, and that is not so good!

I took immediate steps to stop the encroaching grass by making a saturated solution of rock salt and carefully pouring it over the grass edging the walk as well as on the grass 'twixen bricks. Another dose may be needed, but once killed, the trouble is over, then the edges can be trimmed neatly and the dead grass pulled away.

To make a saturated salt solution pour 5 pounds of rock salt into a pail, fill with hot water and stir. Pour off the brine and use, again filling the pail with hot water and stirring until it melts its quota of salt. Use a pitcher to pour the water along the walk edges, otherwise the salt solution will run too far out into the grass and kill what should stay green.

TODAY'S RECIPEOnion Short Cake

2 cups fine chopped onions

2 tablespoons butter

2 tablespoons hot water

1-2 cup sour cream beaten with

1 egg, salt and pepper to taste

Biscuit dough

Cover the onions and cook with the butter and hot water until the onions are tender, but not browned at all. Have ready some biscuit dough, rolled 1-2 inch thick. Line a pan with it, spread the cooked onions over the dough and pour over the onions the beaten egg and sour cream, with seasonings. Bake in a hot oven and serve squares of the short cake with—

EGG CREAM SAUCE

2 tablespoons flour

2 tablespoons butter

2 cups milk

Salt and pepper

2 hard boiled eggs, chopped.

Melt butter, blend with flour, add milk and cook to a smooth sauce, season nicely and fold in the hard cooked eggs cut in dice.

The onion shortcake and its sauce is intended for the main course dish. Serve with it a cooked vegetable and some sort of salad or crisp celery. The recipe given serves five people. The individual calory total is very close to 600.

WEST COAST SHOWS RAILROAD THRILLER

"Other Men's Women," a story without a villain, but provides more thrills, action and romance than a half dozen average pictures. It plays today and tomorrow at the Fox West Coast theater with Grant Withers, Mary Astor and Regis Toomey in the leading roles.

Natural forces provide the dangers which railroad men always face and which bring the drama of "Other Men's Women" to a spectacular climax. Human emotions provide the problems and mechanical contrivances carry the plot to a thunderous denouement.

J. Farrell Mac Donald, James Cagney, Fred Kohler, Jean Blondell and Walter Long are included in the stellar cast. William Wellman directed.

FullertonMidway City*Bazaar Planned

Further plans for the St. Patrick's day bazaar which will be held at the Midway City clubhouse under the auspices of the Woman's club were made at the business session of the club Thursday afternoon. There will be a food and lunch will be served, while fancy work booths, a fortune telling booth, fish pond and other similar features will be arranged. The returns from the bazaar will go to the chamber of commerce to apply on the club house fund.

Thursday's program included a short talk on the life of President Lincoln, presented by the club president, Mrs. P. A. Houlihan; a vocal solo, "Sing Me to Sleep," by Mrs. Walter were Mesdames G. N. Coon, C. F. Hawthorne, Peter McIntosh, William Madreco, H. D. McIlvain, E. V. Swan, J. M. Zulauf, A. L. Lane, R. A. Fuller, Gilmore, William Almas and W. A. Adkinson directed.

Pals At Party

"Mystery Pals" are causing interest among members of the Loyalty Women's class of the First Christian church and Wednesday night marked the end of the first month of pairings, when the class met with Mrs. Walter Houseworth at 211 North Berkeley.

Each woman devotes some of her time to doing unexpected acts of kindness for her "pal." At the April meeting names will be announced. Mrs. Charles Lamb, Mrs. Lester Wheeler, and Mrs. Jesse Chilton shared the hostess duties with Mrs. Houseworth.

The Rev. Domingo Matta, pastor of the Mexican Methodist Episcopal church, spoke of his mission work.

March 2 the class is to entertain husbands of members with a dinner in the recreational hall of the church. After the business meeting, a social time completed the evening.

Forty members were present. Mrs. Lelah Kendall and young daughter, Eleanor, of Anaheim, were guests.

Breakfast Planned

Members of the Young Women's Christian association met Wednesday night in the college art gallery. A campus social hall for student conversation was discussed.

Preceding the discussion, a pot luck supper was served in the high school cafeteria. Mrs. Garrison Costar, accompanied by Esther Scribner on the piano, sang "Thank God for Garden" and "Teach Me to Pray." A reading announcing to the members the St. Patrick's breakfast which the Y. W. C. A. will give the Y. M. C. A. at the Elwell clubhouse on March 17 at 7 a.m. was given by Hyacinth Hetebrink. Glennjean Bortz gave as the thought for the evening, "Compensations."

The committee in charge of the breakfast includes Irma Lutschig, chairman; Esther Scribner, Ruby Wilber, Hisako Oba and Hazel Fluke.

Others present at the meeting were Miss Erna Munford, Orange County Y. W. C. A. secretary; Miss Lillian Rivera and Miss Geneva Johnson, advisors; Rosina Smith, Eliza Jane Gaskill, Irene Crowe, Norma Palmer, Alberta Vail, Melva Roquet, Isabel Plummer, Marjorie Walker, Alta Paynter, Ina Smakjar, Donie Bellomy, Florence Lovering, Isabel Tracy, Lucille Morris, Margaret Russell, Doris Barth, Glennjean Bortz and Marian Marsden.

Shrine Head Visitor

Jean Haines Terry, of Aurora, Ill., supreme worthy high priestess of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, was the honor guest at the Fullerton White Shrine Wednesday night in the Masonic temple.

Other officers present were Victoria Crouse, supreme noble prophetess; W. G. Wisner, past supreme watchman of shepherds; Millie B. Shaw and Marian Heimle, past supreme worthy high priestess and more than 25 other officers from White Shrines in this district.

Thirty-two officers with Leila Isbell and William Malott, presiding officers of the Fullerton White Shrine, were seated at a table arranged in the form of a three-sided square. At intervals along the table were placed low basquets of yellow juncals, ferns and orange and lavender shaded flowers, with tall orange shaded tapers in silver holders completed the decorations.

All work of the Shrine was exemplified. Three candidates were initiated. Members of the patrol, dressed as Spanish señoritas, escorted Mrs. Aida Rodeffer to the east when she presented the supreme officer with a gift of gold concealed in a jar in the form of an orange and decorated with the orange blossoms. Mrs. J. J. Alexander sang a familiar Spanish air with words of her own composition as a compliment to Mrs. Terry.

Mrs. Kelley Hostess

Mrs. C. J. Kelley entertained a group of women at a bridge party Friday afternoon. Iris, Chinese lilies and ferns were used for decorations throughout the home.

At the close of the games Mrs. Robert Wright held high score and was awarded an attractive etching. Mrs. Lawrence Mills of Anaheim held low score and was presented with a bridge set of cards and score pad.

STOLEN HEAVEN' AT FOX BR'DWAY HOUSE*JACK OAKIE FILM*OPENS AT WALKER'S

"Let's Go Native," the mad and merry melange of fun, frivolity and music which is the attraction tonight and Tuesday at Walker's State, presents what is believed to be the most imposing aggregation of Hollywood's younger comedy and music celebrities since "Paramount on Parade."

Jeanette MacDonald and James Hall play the romantic leads. Jack Oakie and Skeets Gallagher provide much of the fun as a wayward taxi driver and a tropical island king respectively.

A small town girl, loose in the city without money or friends, haunted by fear, with death seeming her only outlet, she meets Phillips Holmes, a man gone wrong, hunted by police, and with the proceeds of his first robbery in his pocket. Together they make a pact. They will take their final fling at life in the grand manner until their money is gone and then face death together.

Florida opens its gayety and pleasures to them. They dance, dine and gamble away the money that Holmes had stolen, and all that remains for them is death. But they have now discovered they love each other. Life has meaning after all. Nancy, in a desperate effort to save Holmes, asks a wealthy admirer to gamble their remaining dollars. The admirer loses, but, hoping to marry Nancy, he pretends to have won. Nancy asks him to repeat, and again he supplies "winnings" from his own funds. Equipped with the money, Nancy persuades Holmes that they can now return the stolen money, and, together, begin life again.

Only one showing of the picture is to be made, thus immediately after the first showing of the regular feature, "The Divorcee."

"The Divorcee" was one of the outstanding pictures of 1930 and because of its popularity was selected as this week's revival film.

The TINYMITES

STORY & HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

The natives sure could run real fast and Clowny shouted, "Gee! At last I'm getting just the sort of ride that I like best of all. I feel real classy, sitting here and there is not a thing to fear." Just then the Travel Man cried out, "Look out there, lad! You'll fall!"

The little cart went 'round a curve and Clowny, as it took a swerve, slid suddenly across the seat and then grabbed hold real tight. Of course it gave him quite a thrill. 'Twas lucky that he didn't spill. He looked out at the others and then shouted, "I'm all right."

Soon Scouty shouted, "Hey! No fair! You're staying much too long in there. Get out and let us have a ride." "All right," weet Clowny cried. He shortly hopped down to the ground and all the others rode around. They quite agreed it was one of the neatest things they'd tried.

The Travel Man then said, "The TINYMITES meet a little pottery girl in the next story."

Missing Letter Links

RULES:

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one letter at another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

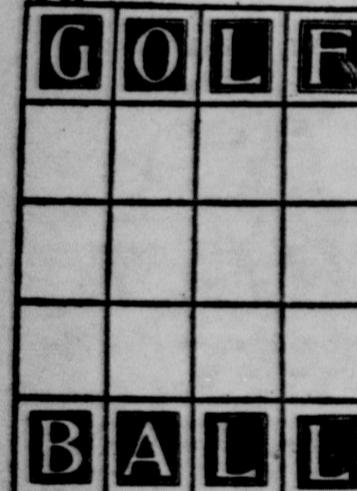

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

GOLF TO BALL—This marks our first game with the new GOLF BALL. We like it so much we shot a par three on the letter links today.

ORANGE COUNTY SCOUT CAMP IN HILLS PLANNED

Edwin F. McFadden, chairman of the county scout camping committee, announced today that negotiations for a scout camp in the foothills above Irvin park were in progress and that there was a good prospect of obtaining the site within the near future.

The camping project is a part of a program to further the outdoor activities of scouts in the county. The camp site will be located next to a living stream and the boys who go there will live in tents and do all of the things that boys like to do—swimming, hiking, playing games, and advancing their scouting work. Each troop in the county will be given a definite part in the building of the camp.

As a part of this camping program, the boy scout camp at Barton flats, near Lake Arrowhead, has been opened, and the privilege of using it at any time has been given to scouts of the county. Harry K. White, county scout executive announced today.

This last week end there were two groups of scouts at the camp, a group from Garden Grove under the leadership of R. W. Beggs, and a group from La Habra, who were led by E. R. Berry. There were 45 boys in the two groups at the camp.

He was the son of a Universalist minister, and because of the meager salary of his father, was forced to be a breadwinner at the early age of 15. Like many other men of renown, he had a remarkably gifted mother, who, because of her knowledge and love of the best in literature, read to him the masters and laid in his mind the foundation of a marvelous culture.

He came under the refining influence of Theodore Parker, who aided him not only by counsel, and in the use of his library, but afforded him an opportunity in his early manhood, to use the gifts with which he had been endowed, and which were being brought out through these influences. He was a dry goods clerk, a schoolmaster, a bookkeeper as he grew from youth into manhood.

King, at the age of 22, was called to be pastor of the Universalist church as successor to Dr. E. A. Chapin in Charlestown, Massachusetts, a church which had been formerly presided over by King's father. This is the recommendation of Chapin:

Thomas has never attended a Divinity school, but he is educated just the same. He speaks Greek, Hebrew, French, German, and fairly good English as you will see. He knows natural history and he knows humanity, and if one knows man and nature, he comes pretty close to knowing God.

From that time on the history of Thomas Starr King is a part of the history of Boston, and his life and activities blended with those of Everett and of Emerson, of Theodore Parker and Wendell Phillips, and all the other "giants" whose standing there in the Athens of America aided in the production and the fostering of the high ideals which determine the attitude of the Northern states in the Civil War, and all of the states in respect to many phases of our social life.

He left this field, these men who were his associates and friends, and came to San Francisco, at a time when the state of California had about half the population of the city of the Bay today. San Francisco at that time had about 56,000 people. King, writing back to Dr. Bellows in Boston, said: "At home among my big fellows, I wasn't much, here they seem to think I am somebody. Nothing like the right setting." But even among the "big fellows" in Boston, he had been somebody. He had multiplied the size of his congregation in Boston five times over what it was at the beginning of his ministry there.

He had already been on the Lyceum bureau, along with Emerson, Everett, Phillips, Chapin, Oliver Wendell Holmes, George William Curtis, Henry Ward Beecher, Frederick Douglass, Theodore Parker and others. He spoke on "Goethe," "Socrates," "Substance and Show," some of which he used as Wendell Phillips did some of his lectures,—to emphasize the theme of the "rights of man," and hence developed the sentiment that finally insisted on the freedom of the slaves.

When he left New York for San Francisco, he was given a breakfast reception, at which the poet, William Cullen Bryant, presided. His friend and neighbor on that occasion, Dr. Frederick H. Hedge, said: "Happy soul! himself a benediction wherever he goes; a living evangel of kind affections, better than all prophecy and all knowledge, the Angel of the Church whom Boston sends to San Francisco."

King was a delicate mould physically, never being strong. He would hardly have been selected, in the judgment of many, as the ideal man to cope with the problems which California presented in that early day. Three decades before, there were only 14 persons not of Mexican or Spanish blood in the whole territory covered by the present state of California. In fact, only 12 years before there were only 900 inhabitants in the pueblo of Yerba Buena (San Francisco). One can hardly realize that the stirring conflict of the Civil War was so close upon the years of the old aristocratic rule of the Spaniards in our own great state.

The discovery of gold, the rush of settlers, the cession of California to the United States, brought it into immediate importance and North and South fought early over its attitude on the slavery question. It will be recalled that James Russell Lowell took this view of it in "The Biglow Papers":

They just wanted this California
So to lug new slave states in,
To abuse ye and to scorn ye,
And to plunder ye like sin.

But in spite of the fears of Lowell and others, there was enough of Northern sentiment so that its electoral vote was cast for Lincoln in 1860. He received the electoral vote, however, because of a three-sided contest in which his opponents together polled nearly three-fourths of the total votes cast. At the time of this election, out of the 114 members of the state Legislature, but 24 belonged to the Republican party. Despite the work of Broderick and Baker, California was still predominantly pro-slavery in its sentiment.

Shortly after the first settlers came to California, there had been a dream among the people of this state of a Pacific Empire, because of the isolation of this vast territory between the sea and the mountains. There was little communication then with other parts of the country and a divergence of purpose, naturally, between the settlers in California and the older sections of the United States. James G. Blaine, in his history of the time made this statement: "Jefferson Davis expected, with confidence amounting to certainty, and based, it is believed, on personal pledges, that the Pacific Coast, if it did not actually join the South, would be disloyal to the Union." Such was the status of California a year after Starr King arrived here.

Even after Lincoln had received the presidential nomination in Chicago, California was not ready to accept him as the President of the country. It has been said that no state north of the Mason and Dixon line gave Northern leaders so grave concern as to its allegiance.

When King arrived in California, he found that his reputation as a lecturer had preceded him, and was at once besieged from all sections for speeches. He made a plea for a united country, one glorious land from Maine to the Sierras. She spoke on such subjects as "Washington," "Webster," "Lexington and Concord," thus combating the idea of the Pacific Republic with a larger vision of an empire from ocean to ocean. He held this as his central theme as he made his way from community to community.

One authority of the time said, "I am persuaded that could he (King) have gone through the Southern states, shaking hands with secessionists, he would have won them back to their allegiance by the mere magnetism of his touch."

He wrote during this period of over-work, which caused his early death, "What a year to live in, worth all other times ever known in our history or any other." And also: "I should be broken down if I had time to think how I feel. I am beginning to look old, and shall break before my prime." He did not labor in vain. In the fall of 1861, a Republican governor, and Union legislature were elected by the people of California, and to use King's words: "The State is safe from southern tampering." It is believed that this was due to Thomas Starr King's speeches and work in the state more than any other influence.

During the King Memorial service held in Boston, April 3, 1864, were spoken the following words which are indicative of King's ability as a philanthropist. "As a philanthropist, Starr King raised for the most benevolent of all charities the most munificent of all subscriptions." As mentioned above, he raised one-fourth of the entire sum contributed by the country at large for the nurses, medicines and other work of caring for the soldiers of the Union army. The amount he raised was $1,235,000, and it was raised in the face of a flood during 1862 which destroyed $50,000,000 worth of property in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys, besides severe shipping losses, and a drought in 1863, when hay sold at sixty dollars a ton.

He also raised funds and devoted considerable time to improving the lot of the Chinese. He also did tireless work for persons who came to him for help.

But besides his work as a laborer for the Union cause and in behalf of charity, first of all, he was a preacher. He learned to speak extemporaneously shortly after coming to California, a wish which he had made in a letter in 1855. His church proved too small for the listeners who gathered to hear him, and on December 3, 1862, the cornerstone for a new church was laid. It has been believed that his popularity in a large measure was due to his insistence on discussing questions of state in the pulpit. He also had the ability to make the discoveries of science and the beauties of nature serve his need in teaching religion. He spoke of the comet of July, 1861, and of a visit to Lake Tahoe in his pulpit, utilizing them to teach lessons which were far in advance of his age.

Perhaps the most striking point in connection with his life and work was the tribute paid to him during his own time and the years immediately following, in marked contrast to the usual custom of postponing praise until years after the recipient is dead.

He had planned a lectureship in Boston, a work in philosophy, and to write a volume on Yosemite as he had written of the White Hills in New Hampshire. But these ambitions were not fulfilled, as he passed on,—this minister, philanthropist and preserver of California's (San Francisco). One can hardly realize that the stirring conflict of the Civil War was so close upon the years of the old aristocratic rule of the Spaniards in our own great state.

The discovery of gold, the rush of settlers, the cession of California to the United States, brought it into immediate importance and North and South fought early over its attitude on the slavery question. It will be recalled that James Russell Lowell took this view of it in "The Biglow Papers":

THE BOYS BACK HOME

When Gloucester had seated himself on the throne
The friends of his boyhood averred:
"This misshapen wight, with a head full of bone
Has now become Richard the Third.
He will be blundered around with a crown on his hair—
This dumbbell we knew as a kid;
We never believed he would get anywhere.
But somehow or other, he did.
We figured he'd likely be driving a truck
But some people always are all shot with luck."

When the ambitious Bonaparte made himself King
His Corsican playmates cried "Gee!
One has to admit what a singular thing
A stroke of good fortune can be.
We thought when this peewee went into the game
That he never would stand any chance
But somehow or other he broke into fame
And now he is bossing all France.
When he ought to be out raising melons to sell,
Which all goes to show that you never can tell."

And so was the case both in Athens and Rome,
When statesmen arose in a land
The youthful companions they played with at home
Would never accord them a hand.
"Those boys didn't have much," they bitterly said;

"If their fame now resounds to the sky,
And they still keep on busily forging ahead
They just get the breaks, that is why!"

And sometimes the judgments of people in power
Are very well founded, and sometimes they're sour.

Who Is Hoarding Money?

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Somebody is hoarding money; and this at a time when trade and employment need, above all else, more money in circulation.

About $600,000,000 of the old, large paper money is still outstanding. Technically, it is "in circulation"; but it doesn't seem to circulate. If it did, it would find its way into the banks, and then be macerated by the Government, and replaced by the new, small-sized notes. This is what has happened, during the past twenty months, to about $4,400,000,000 of the old currency.

The rest of the old currency has gone into hiding. Only in that way could it have escaped the axe. Another proof that most of the old $600,000,000 is being hoarded is the fact that rarely, nowadays, does any one receive a large-sized bank note.

Moreover, if so much of the old money is being hoarded, it is certain that much of the new money is being hoarded. For few people are so dumb as to suppose that a large one-dollar bill is worth more than a small one-dollar bill.

If you own any of this hoarded money, do something with it. Spend it, invest it, or put it in a bank. Get it into circulation.

If you don't trust anybody but the United States Government, put your money in a Postal Savings Bank. You will have greater security, plus interest on your money.

Some persons are urging you to spend your money; others are urging you to save your money; but nobody wants you to hoard it. All the hoarded money in the world does not take a single jobless man out of the bread-line.

Little Benny's Note Book by Lee Page

We was eating supper, being stale under onions, and ma sed, I've made all the arrangements to have my picture taken tomorrow, Willyum, but I'm haunted by an obsession that I may not be able to smile naturally when the critical time comes, and a photograph with an unnatural smile just brands you at once as a pure and simple amateur. I wish I knew the rite thing to think of just at the proper moment to make me smile, she said.

One point many of us overlook. Unless the mothers of the children are safeguarded and protected and helped so that their health is as nearly perfect as may be, it is difficult for the children to acquire that health which is their birthright. The mother's health comes first and the health of the household is added unto it. A sick mother an overworked, nervous, weary mother cannot establish health in her household. Rather the contrary.

Allow a child to help itself as soon as it shows any willingness to do so, which is usually in infancy. It takes time to help a child to help itself in the beginning, but that time is repaid with interest later on when the child is sturdily self helpful. Allow a child to carry responsibility for certain household matters as soon as he or she is able to shoulder it. Work, responsibility, a share in the household life stimulates intelligence and fosters love for home. Health is in activity.

Fathers need to look into the household routine to make sure that all that is possible to do is being done to aid the mother. Grandmothers and aunts can help by relieving the mother once a week. Older children can help by doing their share of the work and shouldering responsibility for themselves, a little. The family ought to conserve the family by guarding the health of the mother.

TO DAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY OF DECATUR'S EXPLOIT

On Feb. 16, 1804, Stephen Decatur led a small party which burned in the harbor of Tripoli, the American frigate Philadelphia after its capture by the Tripolitans.

The Philadelphia had been sent to Tripoli with other frigates to take action against that country for molesting American shipping. The frigate was captured when it attempted to chase an enemy cruiser and struck a reef. The Tripolitans surrounded the helpless boat, floated her and brought her under the guns of a fort.

The officers became prisoners of war and the crew, 300 or more in number, were put to hard labor. On the night of the 16th, Decatur ran into the harbor, boarded the frigate within half-gun shot of the Pasha's castle, drove the Tripolitan crew overboard, set the ship on fire, remained alongside until the flames were beyond control, and then withdrew without losing

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

LATTER-DAY PROPHETS

The Hebrew race holds no monopoly on prophecy, and prophecy did not die with Isaiah and Micah. I do not enter here upon any vexed question of the "Inspiration" of the Bible; I speak only of the fact that modern men still seek to do for their day and generation what the prophetic spirits who left their mark on the Old Testament did for theirs.

And the modern church limits power whenever it restricts the materials of its ministry to the warmed-over warnings of dead prophets.

We need to inject the creative power of religion into social change.

And we need new prophets to give us a technique of social change.

The sacred literature out of which the Bible was formed represents the voice of the living prophets of our time, a medium.
